

I do not believe that the Sinclair Corporation has the right to air it's own partisanship without also giving equal time to the other side. If they air their anti-Kerry, probush movie, then they ought to also air a pro-Kerry movie or documentary such as Going Upriver. Sinclair uses public airwaves and has a responsibility to serve the public interest, not just it's own interest. I believe this is partly the result of the consolidation of media into fewer and fewer hands and I would like to see more government oversight over our broadcast media.
